The Crown Rivers
Heathrow Airport

Before work began on Terminal 5, an archaeological dig was carried out on the 250-acre site. The excavation revealed the Stanwell Cursus, a 2.5-mile-long prehistoric pathway, and a horseshoe enclosure, possibly associated with the mid-winter and mid-summer solstices. Two royal, or crown, rivers were diverted during the building of Terminal 5. The Duke of Northumberland's River was originally owned by King James I; Longford River was dug for his son, Charles I, in the early 17th century.

HISTORY OF THE CLASSIC SPRITZES

Dating from the end of the 19th century, spritzes originated in northern Italy. A popular cocktail in the 1920s, they continue to rise in popularity, now having many interpretations and variations. The famous Aperol Spritz recipe was born in the 1950s, quickly becoming a favourite in Italy... then globally.

In the south of Italy, on the Amalfi Coast and Sicily, the Limoncello Spritz was born. Limoncello is made by steeping the zest of Sorrento or Sfusato lemons in a neutral spirit, then mixing with sugar syrup.

The Hugo Spritz’s origins lie amid the Dolomite mountain range. It is flavoured with elderflower cordial, a floral base allowing the Prosecco flavour to shine through, offering an alternative to the more popular Italian spritzes.

Adults need around 2000 kcal a day.[‡]
