Two Just Stop Oil supporters found guilty for Heathrow paint spraying following retrial

Court & Prison, Press / May 14, 2026

Two Just Stop Oil Supporters who sprayed Heathrow departure boards with orange paint during the Oil Kills, international uprising to end fossil fuels in July 2024 have been found guilty in a retrial after the jury in an earlier trial failed to reach a majority decision. [1]

Phoebe Plummer and Jane Touil were appearing before Her Honour Judge Duncan at Isleworth Crown Court for the second time accused of criminal damage over £5,000 for their action on 30 July 2024 to demand a fossil fuel treaty to end oil and gas by 2030. [2] [3]

Following the verdict Jane Touil said:

"Since I took action, global fossil fuel use and emissions have continued to rise. More than ever, we need a global fossil fuel treaty to help governments rapidly phase out fossil fuels."

"What we do at this moment in history matters. But there is a difference between laws and morality. The courts apply the law made by powerful people. Morals come from within. It is our morals that give us our conscience. I have always tried to live according to my conscience."

Phoebe Plummer said:

"The climate crisis is the greatest injustice that humanity has ever faced. We should all consider what to do at this time. No individual caused this crisis and no one is solely responsible for stopping it. But we can choose what we do to alleviate suffering. I feel compelled to act to be a responsible citizen, a loving aunt and a good person. It compels me to hope for a better future and one where my nephew grows up. I didn't think the action would change government policy. But non violent civil resistance is a necessary part of tackling the climate crisis and I'm grateful and proud to have been part of that. "

Phoebe was remanded for 58 days and Jane for 14 days following the 2024 action in which the pair used fire extinguishers to spray diluted water-based paint in Terminal 5 including at the departure boards. The Crown alleged that the action caused £8,000 worth of damages and that three of the display screens needed to be replaced. [4]

At trial, Judge Duncan ruled out several legal defences for the action including those of 'reasonable excuse' under Articles 10 and 11 of the ECHR, 'necessity' and 'self defence' on the grounds that the threat from climate change was not proximate enough and the actions too far removed from the threat. The defendants were allowed to argue belief in consent : that they honestly believed the owners of Terminal 5 would have consented to the damage if they knew of its circumstances. However, evidence of the relevant circumstances was to be limited to the fact that it was a climate protest with all evidence about the scale and urgency of the climate crisis ruled 'irrelevant and therefore inadmissible'.

In giving evidence, Jane Touil said:

"I genuinely and sincerely believed that if the shareholders [of Heathrow] had a full understanding of the situation we are in they would have given their consent to our action.

"Most people believe there is something that is wrong with climate but not many people have access to the full situation because the fossil fuel industry has used their immense wealth to ensure that governments do not act and it is not reported in the mainstream media.

"So I don't know if shareholders have a full understanding, but I know that if they did, they would be doing all in their power to stop fossil fuels because there will be no business as usual, no functioning society,

In her evidence Phoebe Plummer said:

"I want to make it very clear that this was not a protest against Heathrow, or anyone flying through Heathrow that day. It's true that the aviation industry is especially harmful to the climate in terms of emissions, though it is a small number of frequent fliers and private jet users who cause the vast majority of this harm, not families who save up for a holiday once a year.

"But this wasn't about getting people to stop flying...I made this individual change to live in line with my values, but honestly I know that it's pretty inconsequential. Even if we all woke up tomorrow and stopped flying and went vegan, it would be like mopping up a spill from an overflowing bath whilst leaving the tap on. All individual changes are like this when we are facing a systemic issue. If fossil fuels are extracted from the ground, then they will all be burnt, even if it's not on a flight that you're on. We need systemic change, that has always been Just Stop Oil's demand."

"My intention was not to cause damage. My intention was to take part in an act of nonviolent civil resistance, raising a serious alarm bell to the catastrophic future in store for us if we persist in our addiction to fossil fuels."

In 2024 Just Stop Oil successfully won its original demand of 'no new oil and gas' and on March 27th 2025 announced an end to the campaign of action. However, our supporters will continue to tell the truth in court, to speak out for our political prisoners and to help build what comes next.

Heathrow Five lose appeal against convictions for planning Heathrow action despite evidence of jury misconduct

Uncategorized / June 5, 2026

Five Just Stop Oil supporters who have served prison sentences of up to 15 months for planning an action at Heathrow that never took place have had their convictions upheld by the Court of Appeal. [1]

Rosa Hicks, Adam Beard, Sean O'Callaghan, Sally Davidson and Hannah Schafer were among eight Just Stop Oil supporters convicted of conspiracy to cause a public nuisance after standing trial before Judge Duncan at Isleworth Crown Court in March 2025. A ninth supporter was acquitted and another pleaded guilty before trial. Of the nine convicted, five were given jail terms of up to 15 months, while the remaining four were given suspended sentences. They were the first people to be jailed in this country for an agreement to take part in nonviolent direct action, where no actual damage or disruption resulted. [2] [3] [4]

In separate appeals heard on 12th May, the five argued that their convictions were unsafe. This followed a report from one juror to the Registrar of the Court of Appeal that another juror had made internet searches about the defendants and the Just Stop Oil campaign and shared highly prejudicial and partially false information within the jury room.

The Appeal heard evidence about the inadequacy of the police investigation that followed the report of misconduct. In particular, the police returned to the suspect juror two electronic devices which were clearly relevant to the case which compromised them as evidential sources and made no meaningful efforts to access the suspect juror's two iPhones. No credible explanation was advanced by the police for these investigative failings.

At a preparatory hearing ahead of the appeal and prior to the suspect juror's search history data being obtained, the government's barrister Mr Jarvis KC claimed that the juror who had reported the jury misconduct was lying despite there being an ongoing police investigation into the matter.

In a ruling today, three senior judges – Lord Justice Edis, Mrs Justice McGowan and Mr Justice Griffiths dismissed all the grounds for appeal and upheld the conviction [5]

The appellants released the following statement:

"We are sad that the Court of Appeal has chosen to uphold our convictions despite overwhelming evidence that something went very wrong in the jury room, but we are of course not surprised. The outcome of our appeal today marks a growing trend of using the justice system to crackdown on people trying to hold the powerful to account, be that the fossil fuel industry or the companies selling arms to Israel.

"The appeal judgement changes nothing. Last month was the hottest, driest May in the UK since records began and our government and institutions are still failing in their most basic duty to protect us.

"Whilst a successful appeal would have come with some personal benefit, our appeal has revealed something much more consequential for the rule of law.

"Our conviction was engineered by a Judge who directed the jury to ignore evidence related to the climate crisis, which the judge referred to as a matter of opinion. This was despite undisputed evidence admitted in court, that global heating will have catastrophic and irreversible consequences for humanity.

"It's not surprising if trust breaks down when judges actively mislead a jury. That is where the responsibility for juror misconduct lies. In cases like ours, when it must be obvious to jurors that so much is being kept from them inside the courtroom it makes sense that they might go looking for clues outside.

"Throughout the appeal process, there has been a series of delays and misdirections on behalf of the crown. Not only did the police lose key evidence but they made attempts to close the investigation into juror misconduct prior to vital evidence being obtained. Perhaps most shocking of all, despite an ongoing police investigation into the matter, the lawyer for the CPS repeatedly claimed that the juror who reported the juror misconduct was lying. The police and Crown Prosecution Service maintaining their prosecutions at all costs is not justice.

"We did not seek to blame any of the jurors who tried us. We want to thank the juror who came forward to blow the whistle on what happened in the jury room during our trial. They have shown courage and integrity, they didn't have to speak up, but they did."

The Heathrow 10 were arrested on 24 July 2024, on the first day of the Oil Kills International Uprising to end fossil fuels. During their trial the judge removed all legal defences from the jury's consideration, ruled the climate emergency to be 'irrelevant' and forbade defendants from mentioning that a jury has a right to acquit a defendant as a matter of conscience. The defendants were not permitted to bring expert witnesses on international law or climate science or to show the jury videos they recorded of themselves speaking before the action, nor were they allowed to read the quotes from news articles about their arrests and subsequent remand to prison.

[1] Just Stop Oil is a member of the A22 Network of civil resistance projects.

In 2024 Just Stop Oil successfully won its original demand of 'no new oil and gas' and April 26th 2025 was the last Just Stop Oil action. However, our supporters will continue to tell the truth in court, to speak out for our political prisoners and call out the UK's oppressive anti-protest laws.

Just Stop Oil continues to rely on small donations from the public to make this happen.

Tax the rich to fix Britain!

Britain is broken because the super rich are pocketing billions, whilst ordinary people struggle to get by. They are the reason we have kids going to bed hungry, unaffordable homes and shit in our rivers. They profit from killing children in Gaza and heating the world to boiling point. We feel powerless to change things, because they corrupt our politics and own our media.

It's time to Take Back Power. Why should the rich pay a lower tax rate than the hard working majority? We need ordinary people to decide how to tax extreme wealth, with a citizen-led assembly.

Join us to demand a permanent House of the People with powers to tax the rich and fix Britain.

Nobody likes disruption, least of all the people disrupting, however history shows us that disruption is a necessary part of social change. Disruptive direct action brought us livable working conditions, the weekend, universal suffrage, and civil rights for marginalised communities. More recently, it saw the demand of Just Stop Oil become government policy. The evidence is clear that though people may not like the messenger, or the method of delivery, they hear the message. Ultimately this leads to political pressure and eventual social change. You can read more about how this works here.

'Inequality is shit' — Take Back Power deliver crappy Christmas for the Ritz

December 3, 2025

Three supporters of Take Back Power have delivered a pile of shit to the Ritz. Take Back Power is a new nonviolent civil-resistance group, demanding that the UK government establish a permanent citizen's assembly- a House of the People, which has the power to tax extreme wealth and fix Britain. [1]

At around 12:05 today, three Take Back Power supporters deposited a pile of manure below the Christmas tree at the iconic luxury hotel. The three were quickly removed from the lobby and then held signs outside the entrance which read: 'INEQUALITY IS SHIT' & 'TAX THE RICH'.

A Take Back Power spokesperson said:

"The super-rich have more than doubled their wealth since the pandemic, while this Christmas, a third of UK children suffer and grow up in poverty. It's time ordinary people- those most affected by inequality, get a say in deciding how to tax wealth through the means of a legally binding citizen's assembly- a House of the People." [2][3]

One of those taking action today, Ellen Redwood-Brown, 23, an NHS worker, said:

"The billionaires, corporations, and corrupt politicians running Britain don't care about us. While working in the NHS I've seen people dying because they couldn't get appointments whilst doctors are working 15 hour shifts."

"The UK has 156 billionaires. We could take away 75% of that wealth to fix Britain and we'd still have 156 billionaires. We must let ordinary people decide how to tax the rich." [4]

Also taking action today is Tom Barber, 65, a former doctor, journalist and community worker from Nottingham, who said:

“Power is concentrated in the hands of a small group of obscenely wealthy and ruthless individuals. They are hell-bent on enriching themselves, forcing the gap between the haves and the have-nots ever wider.”

“Everyday people must Take Back Power, compelling our government to create a permanent citizens’ assembly- a House of the People. Only then can we start making decisions for everyone’s benefit- taxing the rich, creating a fairer society and restoring our faith in our democracy.”

Take Back Power is demanding that the UK government establish a permanent House of the People- a citizen’s assembly chosen by democratic lottery, that has the power to tax extreme wealth and fix Britain.

Until the government makes a meaningful statement in response to our demand, we will undertake nonviolent action to resist the super-rich, who are driving us towards social collapse. Donate or sign up to take action at TakeBackPower.net.

Take Back Power 'take over' the playgrounds of the super-rich

April 30, 2026

Take Back Power supporters have been 'taking over' the playgrounds of the super-rich this morning. Take Back Power is a nonviolent campaign, demanding a tax on extreme wealth, to be decided by a 'House of the People.' [1]

At around 10 this morning, 22 Take Back Power supporters occupied a Ferrari dealership in Berkeley Square, they could be heard chanting "WE DEMAND EQUALITY!" and "THE BILLIONAIRES HAVE GOT TO GO!". By around 10:30 the group left the store.

At around 11:30, the group reconvened at Burlington Arcade- the world's first modern shopping mall, which positions itself as an 'elegant and exclusive upmarket shopping venue'. The group could be seen holding signs which read "HOUSE OF THE PEOPLE" and "4 MILLION KIDS IN POVERTY", which were quickly seized by door staff.

By around 12:20, the group had moved on to the food hall at the luxury department store, Harrod's. Security was much more reactive, dragging Take Back Power supporters from the building.

A Take Back Power spokesperson said:

"This country is in crisis and everyone knows it! The people to blame are the corporations and super-rich who are extracting every last penny from working people, and then using their ownership of the media to distract people into blaming the poor and migrants. Nothing short of a massive transfer of wealth and power away from the 1% and back to working people can hope to fix Britain. Join us at takebackpower.net."

One of those taking action today is Robert Pembroke, 43, a builder and dad from Devon, who said:

It's time ordinary people take back our power from the super-rich. Inequality is spiralling out of control, 50 families in the UK hold more wealth than 50% of the country. Around the world, it's even worse with eight men holding more wealth than 50% of the world's population!"

"It is obscene to allow this, people are dying. We need ordinary people, taking part in a permanent citizens' assembly- a House of the People deciding how to tackle this. To find out more go to takebackpower.net."

Also taking action today is Ana Heyatawin, 63, a grandmother from Somerset, who said:

"Inequality, which is being imposed on ordinary people by big business, billionaires and the politicians who work for them, is killing people right now. More than a third of people in the UK now don't earn enough to buy life's essentials."

"We need ordinary people at the heart of deciding how to tax extreme wealth to begin fixing this mess. This is why we are calling for a permanent citizen's assembly, with the power to tax extreme wealth- a House of the People."

It's time working people take back our power from the super-rich. This is why Take Back Power is demanding that the UK government establish a permanent House of the People— a citizen's assembly chosen by democratic lottery, that has the power to tax extreme wealth and fix Britain.

Take Back Power supporters redistribute essential items whilst occupying high-end stores and hotels

May 1, 2026

Take Back Power supporters have been occupying the playgrounds of the wealthy this morning, and have liberated items from a superstore to redistribute them back to the communities that need them. Take Back Power is a nonviolent campaign, demanding a tax on extreme wealth, to be decided by a 'House of the People.' [1]

At around 9 this morning, three Take Back Power supporters entered the Tesco Extra on Acre Lane in Brixton, and took essential items from the shelves and left without paying. The action takers then donated the items at a local food-bank drop-off point. At around 10am, all three attempted to hand themselves in at Brixton Police Station. So far none have been arrested.

At 11:45, around a further 18 Take Back Power supporters occupied the luxury department store Liberty, on Regent Street in London. They could be seen holding signs which read '3 MILLION HOUSEHOLDS SKIPPING MEALS' and 'TAX THE SUPER-RICH NOW.'

At around 1pm, this group then reconvened, disrupting access to the luxury hotel, Claridges. The group could be heard chanting "WE DEMAND EQUALITY!" and 'HOW DO WE TAX THE SUPER RICH?- A HOUSE OF THE PEOPLE!' as security attempted to move the supporters away from the door.

A Take Back Power spokesperson said:

"Take Back Power is calling for an emergency 'House of the People' to deal with the cost of living crisis. When politicians are too busy lining their pockets to fix our problems, we need the people most impacted to have a seat at the table. A House of the People selected by democratic lottery, like a jury, is a no-brainer solution to cut out the corruption and decide how to redistribute wealth."

One of those taking action redistributing food today is Moshe Dixon, 25, from Dundee said:

“My mother came from poverty and fought tooth and nail to give me a better future. Like so many mothers she was promised that hard work would be rewarded, yet we are living in a country where so many families can’t make ends meet despite working multiple jobs.”

“6.5 million people had to turn to foodbanks in 2024. Meanwhile the CEO of Tesco is taking home 430 times the pay of the average Tesco employee, and the rich are paying a smaller share of tax than working people. We need an assembly of ordinary people coming together to decide how to tax extreme wealth in order to fix our broken country. Join us at takebackpower.net.”

Also taking action today occupying high-end stores and hotels, is Hannah McDonald, 20, a student from Liverpool, who said:

“Fourteen million people last year were faced with the prospect of going hungry, in this, the 6th richest nation on earth! Now we have a cost of living tsunami on the way and the government is nowhere to be seen.”

“This is broken Britain. We need a House of the People— an assembly with real power, where ordinary mums, nurses, posties & cleaners, get a real say in how to take back our power from the super rich, and redistribute that wealth and power back to working people.”

Today’s actions come as the UK braces for food shortages and soaring prices as a result of the war in Iran, as rising fuel, fertiliser and commodity prices begin to feed into business costs. [2]

It's time we take on the super-rich who are profiteering from a world in crisis. This is why Take Back Power is demanding that the UK government establish an emergency House of the People— a citizen's assembly chosen by democratic lottery, that has the power to tax extreme wealth and fix Britain.

Until the government makes a meaningful statement in response to our demand, we will undertake nonviolent action to resist the super-rich, who are driving us towards social collapse. Donate or sign up to take action at TakeBackPower.net.

Fossil Free London pours fake blood outside Shell offices as it ‘makes a killing’ from the Iran war

M Fossil Free London campaigners protest outside Shell's London headquarters against its giant profits from the Iran war [Pic: Fossil Free London]

FOSSIL Free London activists covered themselves in fake blood as they sat outside Shell’s London headquarters wrapped in a fuel pump today.

They erected a banner that read “BLOOD MONEY: No new oil & gas” amid expectations the fossil fuel giant will announce bumper quarterly profits today thanks to the Iran war.

Fossil Free London spokesperson Robin Wells said: “In these past few years, as our world becomes more unstable and the realities of climate breakdown set in, it’s never been clearer: Big Oil profits from, and locks in, mass death.

“And we’re feeling this so rawly right now. As we see thousands slaughtered in Iran and weep alongside those mothers who will never hold their children again, Shell is making a killing.”

More than 2,000 people have been killed by the US and Israel’s war in Iran, which has sent oil prices soaring due to a blockade on the Strait of Hormuz.

Shell was contacted for comment.

THE AWAKENING: BEYOND THE WALL

May 14, 2026 by Extinction Rebellion

The path from spring to summer has a beautiful way of revealing what has been gaining strength invisibly.

Roots grow underground long before anything breaks the surface. Networks form quietly beneath hard ground. By the time the first shoots appear, the real work has already been happening for months.

Something similar can be felt across Britain's protest movements now.

At RAF Lakenheath in April, peace campaigners gathered for a week-long camp opposing the return of US nuclear weapons to British soil and the use of British bases in illegal wars in Palestine, Iran, Lebanon and beyond. There were workshops, overnight vigils, legal briefings, songs around camp and shared meals and stories. Older peace campaigners stood alongside younger climate and anti-war activists inheriting a world increasingly organised around militarisation, surveillance and permanent emergency.

The direct actions, organised by Lakenheath Alliance for Peace, began in earnest as it became clearer that the base is being used extensively for the US/Israeli wars in WANA (West Asia and North Africa). There were a total of 23 arrests – A group of 7 Christians, Muslims, Jews, Quakers and people of no faith group, together calling themselves Unity Against Genocide were arrested under the Terrorism Act while wearing tabards with individual words on them. When combined, their tabards read ‘WE OPPOSE GENOCIDE. WE SUPPORT PALESTINE ACTION’ – with only one word on each. Incredibly, the group carried out the same action at the Supreme Court in February this year without arrest.

There were 2 arrests at the Saturday police-liased blockade. 13 were arrested at the ‘surprise’ Monday blockade at the main gate. The lock-on to the CND symbol on the trailer, car lock-on and two road lock-ons happened at the main gate and at the same time 1 more person was arrested at the Lakenheath village gate where around 60 people did a stand up blockade.

A peace camp. A blockade. Arrests for nonviolent protest. These are recognisable acts within the long history of civil resistance in Britain.

And yet something can be felt, shifting.

Across climate movements, Palestine solidarity organising, peace campaigns and protest rights groups, people are recognising the same pattern unfolding around them.

Not of isolated incidents, but a political trajectory.

Defend Our Juries' Timeline of Corruption shows our interwoven tapestry. Fossil fuel corporations knowing for decades about climate collapse; lobbying networks and think tanks shaping anti-protest policy; Lord Walney acting as an "independent adviser" while connected to oil and arms interests; escalating restrictions on protest and legal defence; peaceful campaigners imprisoned while the industries driving destruction continue almost untouched.

In 2019 Extinction Rebellion emerged to tell the truth about systems placing profit above life itself and to pressure the government to act. It is clear that those systems do not only extract from ecosystems. They extract from communities, from democracy and from our collective ability to act together. The same concentrations of wealth and power driving climate collapse are also driving militarisation, border violence and attacks on civil liberties. The deepest scars of this system are borne by the Global South; they endure the most devastating impacts of a collapse fueled by others, the injustice of the relentless extraction of their resources and the theft of their autonomy.

THE WALL

When movements begin naming those connections clearly while reminding people of their agency, repression tends to follow; the same power that redacts the truth about our collapsing ecosystems in secret reports is the power that sends nuclear bombs to our soil and attempts to silence the juries that might hold them accountable.

Next came the arrests for mere written words. In 2023, Trudi Warner stood quietly outside a courthouse holding a sign reminding jurors of their legal rights. She was arrested for it.

No obstruction, no threat, no violence: just a sentence on a card. Just the truth.

Trudi's sign, which read "Jurors: you have an absolute right to acquit a defendant according to your conscience", reflected a 300-year-old legal principle also written on a plaque on the Old Bailey. Her arrest shocked many people precisely because it exposed something larger than a single case. If even reminding jurors of their conscience could provoke arrest, then the boundary of acceptable dissent was moving rapidly. Defend Our Juries emerged from that moment of recognition, catalysed by outrage at Trudi's arrest.

And now that recognition is spreading further. We stand against the same machinery of suppression: hostile media narratives, politicised policing, corporate influence over public policy and expanding restrictions on protest.

They are building a wall of secrecy and fear between the government and the governed.

One of the most dangerous aspects of this moment has been the increasing weaponisation of antisemitism against movements opposing mass violence.

Antisemitism is real, deadly and rising along with wider fascism. Jewish communities deserve safety and protection everywhere, as do all people of any faith or none; but conflating opposition to the actions of the Israeli government with hatred of Jewish people does not challenge antisemitism, it begets it. It risks deepening division while allowing governments to criminalise protest, expand policing powers and suppress dissent under the language of public safety.

Movements for climate justice and global justice are not separate moral causes competing for attention. They are a response to the same underlying crisis: a political and economic system that concentrates power upwards while demanding silence from everyone living with the consequences.

We know a liveable future cannot be built through fear, secrecy and permanent war. It has to be rooted instead in mutual aid, democratic participation, public accountability and care. That threatens those who profit from extraction, militarisation and division because solidarity interrupts the cycles they depend upon.

And solidarity is exactly what is growing.

At places like Lakenheath, around shared food and stories, people are recognising one another properly. Not as isolated campaigns orbiting separate issues, but as communities defending the conditions that make collective life possible at all: truth, conscience, participation and the right to resist systems that place profit and power above human and ecological survival.

Spring works slowly. But once roots intertwine underground, it becomes much harder to build a wall over what eventually emerges.

LAKENHEATH FILM BY ZOE BROUGHTON AND VLAD MOROZOV

This beautifully made film follows the people behind the protest. Scientists, veterans, teachers, and ordinary citizens — asking a simple question: what does real security look like?

Watch on

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT?

Keep an eye on independent news sources, the story grows all the time:

On 23rd April, Trudi was one of nine people arrested for breaching a Section 14 order while again holding signs communicating the principle of jury equity outside a court. The same sign as in 2023 but this time Section 14 conditions forbidding protest within 1 mile of the court was used. The interesting legal argument to watch for will be whether silently holding a sign amounts to protest.

On 12th May came further evidence of the movement of boundaries within our judicial system. Four Palestine Action activists could be sentenced as terrorists. They were found guilty of criminal damage by a jury at Woolwich Crown Court in a retrial. The judge, Mr Justice Johnson, ruled before the first trial that there appeared to be a “terrorist connection” to the offences – even though they took place before Palestine Action was proscribed. The judge’s ruling was not disclosed to jurors in two trials so they convicted the four based on criminal damage, not knowing they could then be sentenced for terrorism. We now know that reporting restrictions prevented the whole truth being known.

This has never happened before in a criminal damage case.

At the core of Extinction Rebellion's philosophy is Nonviolent Direct Action. It is built on a long history of successful civil disobedience campaigns, from Indian Independence to the British Suffragettes and the American Civil Rights Movement, and evidence of how nonviolent social movements can create change.

Extinction Rebellion's actions and campaigns focus on disrupting the seats of power because we are living in a time of Climate and Nature Emergency with our eco-system and society at risk of collapse in the sixth mass extinction.

Working with care, within our Principles & Values, we always have the same 3 demands which guide our focus:

TELL THE TRUTH
ACT NOW
DECIDE TOGETHER

With love and rage

Our plan and pledge: Shut down the fossil fuel economy

We pledge to target property and machinery of the destructive industries owned by the wealthiest and most responsible for the greatest crisis humanity has ever faced. Our strategy is to disable the physical infrastructure of significant carbon emitters; whether emissions occur directly, or through their support for upstream business operations.

Without their property, assets, offices, wealth, physical tools and resources, banks, financiers and insurance companies will be forced to end all support for climate breakdown.

Unlike our targets, we are non-violent – we will never physically harm a person or living being.

We do not consider the destruction of machinery to be violence. We consider it necessary. We take the necessary steps to end their violence.

We are inspired by the militancy and radical tactics of the suffragette movement in the 20th century, the civil rights movement, land rights campaigners, workers struggles, the poll tax protesters, the anti-fascists who rebelled against Nazi rule, the animal liberation movement, independence struggles around the world, the radical movement for LGBT+ rights, the anti-apartheid movement, the peace movement, the struggle for a free Palestine and many of the historic campaigns that have brought us the safety, security and basic human rights we enjoy today.

We can't stand back and allow the world to crumble because of something completely preventable – because of the failures of the wealthy elite. We can't let apathy for the suffering of others pave the way for inaction. We can't live with ourselves knowing that the fate of humanity and life on Earth was jeopardised because we refused to address the machinery of industry and government.
